Teacher Strike Looms In Wake Of Refusal

By Linda S. Corbett

If Andover teachers don't get the salary hike they're after by next Wednesday, they may go out on strike.

That announcement came Tuesday night after the general membership of the Andover Education Association unanimously rejected the school committee's latest salary offer -- a 6 percent increase for this year and 7 percent for 1976-77.

The committee had made the offer Sunday, after rejecting the factfinder's recommendation of 7.5 percent for both years.

Tuesday night the teachers did accept the factfinder's report, but also voted to resume their limited job action until a settlement is reached.

The two sides were to go back to the bargaining table last night, and the AEA President Pat Leahy said the teachers were hoping to change the committee's mind on salary.

"We only need three committee votes," she said, adding that the whole school committee had been present only twice at more than 50 negotiation sessions in the past year and a half.

She said the AEA feels it deserves the opportunity to discuss salary with the full committee.

"They have never heard our point of view at all," she said.

Negotiations were narrowed down to salary and "just cause" Saturday, when the committee rejected the factfinder's recommendations on those troublesome items. They no longer disputed responsibility of principals, department head stipends, non-teaching duties, and effective agreement, the so-called "zipper clause" which says there will be no negotiating on any of the items during the term of the contract.

The committee wouldn't go along with the factfinder's salary suggestion, their last hard offer having been 6 percent for each of the two years. The teachers had been seeking 12 and 12.

The committee also wanted the words "reprimanded" and "disciplined" removed from the clause which reads: "No one will be disciplined, reprimanded, suspended, reduced in rank or compensation, without just cause."

The committee turned around Sunday and offered the AEA a 6 percent hike this year and 7 percent next year -- an offer the negotiating team rejected on the spot, but took back to the

Her Efforts Are Recognized

Andover High Senior Carolyn O'Hara was honored Sunday in the statewide "Classmates Today - Neighbors Tomorrow" contest, sponsored by the Department of Massachusetts Jewish War Veterans.

The daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Richard O'Hara, 10 Bancroft Road, Carolyn was named as Andover High's representative in the brotherhood program by Principal Philip Wormwood.

Sunday's festivities included a Brotherhood Breakfast at The Hillcrest in Waltham.

Wormwood used "many worthy adjectives" to describe Carolyn in his nominating letter, including thoughtful, compassionate, effective, sympathetic, selfless, purposeful, mature, cooperative.

"Perhaps I can explain it more succinctly," he wrote, "by saying that she is a girl to turn to when help is needed."

He gave three examples of "simple involvements in Carolyn's normal life that represent the kind and considerate girl that she is."

Last summer, he said, a woman called him to recommend a girl to help a German girl become familiar with the

56 Items In Town Meeting

Andover voters will face a 56-article warrant when the annual town meeting convenes in April.

In addition to adoption of the municipal operating budget and action on routine statutory articles, major money items include the $450,000 for portable classrooms for the school department, a $930,000 bond issue for open space, conservation and recreation, some decisions on the Sacred Heart property in Shawsheen, and a $2.6 million water distribution improvement program.

Selectmen, school committee, and finance committee members will be reviewing the warrant items with the town manager between now and the April 26 opening session. The warrant closed Friday.

There are 13 money items submitted for consideration by town boards or committees.

Among them the annual $100,000 surface drain improvement program, $1,909 to pay overage of the MBTA bill for last year and $25,000 to continue the commuter train for another year, $40,000 for improvements to the Theater building on Essex street, $20,000 for a transit study program, $12,000 for road improvements at Recreation

Ready For A Roast

Rep. George Keverian, right, roastmaster for the Rep. Jerry Cohen roast Sunday at the Sheraton Rolling Green, gives some advance warning to David Liederman, secretary to Gov. Dukakis and Rep. Cohen, prior to the beginning of the fund raising event.

Rep. Cohen Gets Roasted

A year ago Andover elected its first sole Representative to the state legislature.

Sunday night, over 400 local residents sat in as Rep. Gerald Cohen (D-Andover) was "roasted" at the Sheraton Rolling Green.

There was little doubt that this was a fund raising affair, but unlike the typical campaign kickoffs, there wasn't much of the usual heaping of praise on the candidate or the serious business of politics.

It was a fun affair. The aim of the committee was to conduct a fund raising event for Cohen, who will be seeking re-election this fall, and to have it be entertaining. After all, everyone was aware of what the purpose was, thus, why not make it a fun time?

And, it proved successful under the carefully amusing guidance orchestrated by Rep. George Keverian, who is chairman of the committee on redistricting.

Jokes and jibes poured forth from Keverian from the moment he was introduced by Gerald Silverman, keeping the audience in an anticipatory mood throughout the evening, awaiting his stories or introductions.

State and local government came in for some good, old-fashioned ribbing during the evening, and even the hotel owner, Harry Axelrod, was roasted in the process. Axelrod, in turn, a prominent Republican, presented Cohen a stuffed elephant, reminding him that the GOP symbol was alive and well in the state.

House Speaker Thomas Magee praised Cohen's work as a freshman legislator and Gov. Dukakis' secretary David Liederman, who was a classmate of Cohen's at the University of Massachusetts, also commented on the Representative's work during his first year as Andover's Representative.

The two speakers offered the more serious tone of the program, noting the number of hours Cohen has spent in carrying out his elected duties at the State House.

Surviving Keverian's introductions and ribbing, Cohen, as well as themselves, were Chairman Milton Greenberg and Mrs. Janet Lake of the selectmen, Chairman Frank Griggs of the school committee, Supt. of Schools Kenneth R. Seifert, and former school committeeman William L. Lane, who got in some "flattering" commentary for each other as well as for Cohen. Also offering "plaudits" were Mrs. Dana Duxbury, Norma Nathan, former State House reporter for the Eagle-Tribune, and Harold Rafton.

Decorating the tables were cakes formed in the shape of the straw hats which became a part of the Cohen election campaign. Also distributed were maps of the Shawsheen area in the late 1880's showing a Cohen family residing in what was then known as Frye Village, in an area not too distant from the present site of the Rep. Cohen residence.

An added feature was the singing of birthday greetings to Cohen, led by his wife, Annette. The general tenor of the program proved to be a different and well-received "fun" d raiser.

Study Aimed At Seeing Jane, Dick Run In Same Race

On Dean's List

William H. Harrison III, son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Harrison, Jr., of 253 South Main Street, Andover, has been named to the Dean's List for the Spring, 1975, term at Babson College.

"Presidential Papers: Washington to Ford," is a Bicentennial exhibit at the Mugar Memorial Library of Boston University, 775 Commonwealth Ave. Monday through Friday, 9 to 5.

While all minority groups -- racial, sex, religious, whatever -- are included, the National Organization for Women (NOW) has particularly taken up Chapter 622 as a cause, and representatives of the local NOW chapter were on hand recently to egg the schoolmen on.

Spokesperson Susan Clarke, 59 Phillips St., indicated that their main concern is that women in schoolbooks and materials are primarily cast as mothers and homemakers, while the men go out to work and do heavy things.

Associate Superintendent Harry Westcott related a blatant example of role stereotyping from a scene on the back of a cereal box. It depicts a family at a camping site: Mom is standing over the stove, while Sister unrolls the sleeping bags, Brother fusses over the fishing gear, and Dad tinkers with the boat.

Chapter 622 specifically charges school committees to review books and materials for such stereotyping of sex (or race or religion or whatever) roles, and to compensate with supplementary materials when necessary to give a realistic picture.

Another book for beginning readers, for example, should show that girls can ride horses too.

Chapter 622 also instructs school committees to monitor changes in various school programs to comply with equal rights laws, and to provide in-service training for school personnel in regard to the law.

In the program area, School Committeeman Robert McIntyre noted that athletics pose the biggest problem, since offerings have been historically limited for girls.

However, he said, the law does not demand that this be corrected overnight, but simply that schools show that they, in good faith, intend to conform.

Ms. Clarke said that last year's athletic budget was weighted 87 percent for boys' athletics and 13 percent for girls'.

"I think you'll find they're spending more (for girls) this year," Committeeman George Olesen said, and moved that the committee go on to the next topic on the evening's agenda. He received no second, however.

Westcott explained that a "first annual sensitivity workshop" held for teachers last summer had worked out very well, and Mrs. Viehmann added that Tuesday night's committee meeting itself pointed up the need for sensitivity training.

Olesen had questioned the need for a study at all, getting a "no" when he asked if anyone knew of any violations in the schools now, or any school committee policy which tried to negate any of the items in Chapter 622.

"Are you saying violations don't exist?" asked Ms. Clarke.

If violations are found in the system, Olesen responded, they should simply be brought to the attention of the committee and corrected.

Mrs. Viehmann, however, said the law states that all school books should be reviewed and that if the committee were to make a public statement that they would not review them, they could be in contempt.

Superintendent Kenneth R. Seifert agreed with her that literature needs to be more comprehensive. He said he didn't believe Chapter 622 required careful scrutiny "of every picture, every paragraph". "It is simply seeking to find," he said, "if the materials are painting a picture of reality."

Chairman Frank Griggs added that the committee has "gross responsibility (for books) . . . though we have shirked it over the years," and Media Director Annetta Freedman added that media centers are in compliance with the law, offering materials that show "both sides".

Olesen was the lone "no" against a study of books, but he turned about-face and volunteered to oversee the administration on the study.

When a colleague suggested that he might not have his heart in the job, Olesen said he has "never been known to be an obstructionist . . . just a positive conservative."

As the discussion concluded, Ms. Clarke stood up at the back of the room and raised her voice over the din. "Personhood is sacred," she said.

"So is parenthood," quipped Mrs. Ethel Howard from her seat near the front.

"We are parents too," the NOW members replied.

Thoughts From Chilean Experience

Bill Kenney, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kenney of Sagamore Road, returned in early January from a year in La Calera, Chile as an American Field Service student.

Bill left Andover in January 1975 after completing Andover High School from which he graduated in absentia last June.

This coming September he will enter Bates College where he plans to major in Biology. Bill's older brother Frank spent the summer of 1974 in Australia on the AFS summer program.

Bill has written the following account of his experiences during his year in Chile.

"I traveled to Chile with AFS (American Field Service). It was one opportunity I am glad that I didn't pass up. Though it was difficult at first, the dividends outweighed the trials by far.

"I lived in the small town of La Calera. It is situated about two hours driving time north of the national capital, Santiago. I studied in the Liceo de Hombres Coeducacional de La Calera, in other words, Calera High School. Though I took a lot of ribbing at first because of my complete inability to speak Spanish, I had a super time with the kids in that school.

"My daily life consisted of going to school until about 2 and then coming home and helping out in my Chilean dad's liquor store or going to a friend's house to 'study'. During the weekends I either partied with my friends or took short trips to neighboring towns on the invitation of the other kids who came to Chile with me. During the school vacations I traveled north to Antofagasta and south to Punta Arenas.

"My Chilean family was fantastic. I was treated exactly like an extra son. Of course, there were times that we locked horns, but never once did I feel like an outsider fighting against five other people. "Even though I saw a lot of beautiful things and met a lot of dynamite people, the year was not without its rough spots.

"I think the hardest thing I had to do was learn the language. The first four months were the hardest of my life. I'm sure I don't have the biggest mouth in town, but I never realized how important speaking to and understanding another person was until I didn't have the ability to do so. I also suffered some culture shock, which is the shock of going from a certain way of doing things to another place and doing those things differently. But it was only a matter of time before I found myself doing things in true Chilean fashion.

"I really enjoyed my experience. I learned a lot of things about myself and people. My thanks have to go to AFS for providing an opportunity as fantastic as this to high school students."

Colonial Women

Colonial women shared equally with the men in the difficult times of first settlement. But from the beginning there were women who stood out from the others by advocating some special cause.

Two who have been recognized in the 20th century for their idealism and courage are Anne Hutchinson and Mary Dyer.

Anne Hutchinson was tried for heresy and banished from the Massachusetts Bay Colony because she favored freedom for dissenting religious views. Mary Dyer was hanged in 1660 because she challenged a law forbidding the Quaker faith.

Trek Through History At Ward Reservation

On Sunday, Feb. 15, at 1:30 p.m. local members of the Appalachian Mountain Club, and other interested persons will be led on a walk through the Charles W. Ward Reservation by Warren and Bonne Lewis. The walk will begin from the parking lot on Prospect Hill Road which is

The Ward Reservation consists of 595 acres and is a property of the Trustees of Reservations which is a charitable corporation founded for conservation purposes. It is the custodian of 53 similar reservations across all of Massachusetts from Cape Cod to the Berkshires.

The Ward reservation has many distinguishing features. Located within its boundaries are three major elevations, Holt Hill, Shrub Hill, and Boston Hill. Holt Hill, rising to an elevation of 420 feet, is the highest point of land in Essex County. On a clear day one can see Mt. Agamenticus in Maine, Mt. Kearsage and Mt. Monadnock in New Hampshire, Mt. Wachusett in Massachusetts and Great Blue Hill south of Boston. On the first Bunker Hill day, June 17, 1775, local townspeople climbed to the top to watch the burning of Charlestown.

The walk will last from one and a half to two hours and will begin from the parking lot and follow the War trail north and then east around Cat Swamp and Shrub Hill. Some huge boulders left from the glaciers are clearly visible from the trail. The area was originally farmed by Nicholas Holt who was born in England in 1620 and as a young man of 26 was one of the original signers of the Andover Charter in 1646. Miles of stone walls and evidence of fruit trees and meadows are seen along the route. From the Ward trail the group will turn south along Old Chestnut Street which is just a wood's path, but probably was the road along which Nicholas Holt drove his family to church in the North Parish on Sunday mornings. The group will then turn west along the Graham trail and begin the ascent of Holt Hill. From the top spectacular views unfold to the south and particularly the west.

The group will descend the hill to the west to a point where a ski jump exists. From this vantage point one can clearly see Pine Hole Pond which is located in the quaking bog. A 700 foot board walk crosses the bog to the pond making access possible at anytime of year. Numbered stations are located at points along the walk where unusual botanical or geological features exist.

Parking is extremely limited so please double and triple up with friends or park on Route 125 and walk the short distance in to the parking lot. The walk will take place unless walking conditions are prohibitive.

Recreation Program Costs To Be Aired

The Recreation - Community Schools Committee will, within its regular Feb. 10 meeting, hold a public hearing on Recreation - Community Schools Department fees and charges. The meeting will be held in the Conference Room of the Town Hall. The public hearing will begin at 8 p.m.

A policy statement for fees and charges for recreation activity and the community schools instructional program has been developed. The public hearing is scheduled to provide interested Andover residents an opportunity to voice their opinion before the vote of the Recreation - Community Schools Committee. The policy statements read as moved.

Recreation

It is the policy of the Recreation - Community Schools Department that:

1. There shall be no fees for those programs defined as mass open play activities servicing a large number of Andover residents where an instructor is not required.
2. There shall be a fee levied for adult recreation activities of no less than 50% of the programs' estimated total Town's cost when the program: a. services a select group and/or b. requires an instructor and/or c. provides facilities or equipment not generally available.

3. Pre-school, elementary and Junior - Senior high programs shall be charged no less than 25% of the programs' total estimated cost.

4. Some special interest recreation programs may be self-sustaining and the Recreation - Community Schools Department in those instances may serve only as the program organizer between community and the service provider.

Community Schools Instructional Program

The Recreation - Community Schools Department activities defined as enrichment and academic courses and are instructional in nature should be no less than 50% reimbursable based on the total estimated individual program costs. After determining estimated total cost of each program, the potential cost will be halved and this figure will be divided by the estimated number of participants who will enroll. This final sum will be the tuition fee.

Extending A Greeting

Karen Mullings, three, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Mullings, gets a friendly greeting from "Midnight", the Myna bird who had held forth at Grant's in Shawsheen Plaza until the store closed. "Midnight" has moved to the North Andover store since the local operation closed.

'Midnight' Still Greeting

Midnight, the Myna Bird, is alive and well and holding forth at Grant's in the North Andover Mall.

The loquacious bird who has startled shoppers with his "Hello There" for some 15 years at Grant's in Shawsheen Plaza, moved on to his new home when the older store shut down a few weeks ago.

A spokesman was quick to note this week that he's not for sale.

He's the pet department's pet. Mynas are black-plumaged birds, members of the starling family. They are native to Southeast Asia and the East Indies and can be taught to talk or make mimic sounds.

Raytheon Sales Top $2 Billion

Raytheon Company today reported record earnings for 1975 on sales that topped $2 billion for the first time.

Earnings per share were $4.69, compared with $3.85 in 1974. Net income was $70,973,000 on sales of $2,245,445,000. In 1974, net income was $57,751,000 on sales of $1,928,855,000.

Net income was up 22.9 percent on sales increase of 16.4 percent. Thomas L. Phillips, Raytheon chairman and chief executive, said that while numerous elements of the company contributed to the growth, the increases resulted primarily from growth in the government systems area and record major appliance sales posted by the company's subsidiary, Amana Refrigeration, Inc.

Return on equity was 16.4 percent for 1975. This compares with 15.2 percent in 1974 and 13.4 percent in 1973.

Per share earnings are based on the average number of common shares outstanding during the year: 15,120,420 in 1975 and 15,001,560 in 1974.

For the fourth quarter of 1975, Raytheon earned $16,809,000 or $1.11 a share on 15,193,774 average shares. In 1974, earnings were $14,453,000 or 96 cents a share on 15,014,122 shares. Sales in the fourth quarter were $595,- 196,000 in 1975 compared with $531,999,000 a year earlier.

Fourth quarter net income was up 16.3 percent on a sales increase of 11.9 percent.

Total company backlog stood at $2,458,597,000 at the end of 1975 and $2,647,234,000 at the end of 1974. The U.S. government-funded portion of the backlog amounted to $657,656,000 at the end of 1975 compared with $644,590,000 a year earlier.

Provision for federal and foreign taxes in 1975 was $50,933,000. In 1974, the tax provision was $46,129,000. Fourth quarter tax provisions were $10,167,000 in 1975 and $9,767,000 in 1974.

Parsnips Cold Weather Specialty

"Root vegetables" are the type of hearty fare that complements cold weather, and the unique parsnip is one that is available from local farms throughout the winter, according to the Massachusetts Department of Food and Agriculture.

The flavor of parsnips isn't fully developed until they are exposed for a few weeks to temperatures near freezing, which gradually change the starch content to sugar.

They can be harvested after the first frost, but since the root isn't harmed when the ground freezes, parsnips can be dug during the winter or even early spring. Hence the phrase "spring-dug parsnip".

Frugal Bay State colonists realized the value of this forerunner in "freezable" vegetables, as parsnips were in common usage by 1630.

Similar to carrots in shape, the creamy-colored parsnip is a member of the same botanical family, which also includes parsley, fennel, celery, celeriac and chervil.

Parsnips and carrots are perhaps more popularly classified, however, as "root vegetables" along with turnips, potatoes, beets, radishes and onions. To the vegetarian cult, they are classified as "yang" as they grow down into the earth.

The taste of parsnips is also unique, but when properly cooked, they have a sort of sweet, nutty flavor. The basic procedure is easy. Simply parboil or steam, unpeeled, until tender. Then peel and slice lengthwise into about 3-inch pieces, saute in butter and season with salt and pepper.

Parsnips can also be glazed, as well as fried up crisp like chips. They can be pureed with butter, cream and seasonings - and mixed with an equal quantity of whipped potatoes, if you like. There are even recipes for parsnip chowders, pies and cakes.

Massachusetts is one of eight leading states in the commercial production of parsnips - some 850,000 pounds were grown here last year. And so it's more than likely that most parsnips at produce counters are a locally grown vegetable.

Traditional Mode Is Discussed With Parents

The differences between traditional and contemporary mode of education were hashed over once again Tuesday night, before some 300 parents in the West Junior High auditorium.

Now the parents are left with the choice -- to be made by next Friday -- of enrolling their elementary youngsters in a new traditional alternative next fall, or leaving them where they are in the so-called "contemporary" program.

Ironically, many of the questions the parents arrived with -- such as where the traditional programs will be held -- will have no answers until the administration knows how many youngsters will be enrolled.

Associate Superintendent Harry Westcott said during his presentation Tuesday night that regardless of the location, traditional pupils will be transported via regular school buses. Most likely, he said, they will get to their neighborhood schools as usual, and then be shuttled to the school where the traditional program is located.

There are more similarities than differences in the traditional and contemporary alternatives, Westcott told the parents, "particularly when considering the high structure-contemporary and the traditional."

Mainly, he said, the traditional depends on an individual teacher's perspective of his pupils' ability and growth in all curriculum areas, while the contemporary program allows for a cooperative teacher perspective.

Both forms, he said, permit development of strong peer group ties. The contemporary mode permits teachers to teach in their particular area of expertise and interest, while the traditional requires that one teacher teach in multiple curriculum areas, including reading, math, science, English, history and geography.

Music and physical education are taught similarly for both groups, he said.

Basics are taught, drilled and reinforced and become the foundation for all other learning in both contemporary and traditional, he explained.

In contemporary, individualized print materials are supplemented by textbooks, while in traditional, the opposite is true.

In contemporary, he said, learning is spontaneous and the rate of learning is established by the learner; in traditional, the learning presentation is patterned and sequenced by external agents.

In contemporary, learning process involves as much of the environment as possible -- including field trips, outdoor education, visiting lecturers, and the like. In traditional, learning takes place best when the student is in a specially designed environment. The less outside distractions that take place, the more solid learning will take place. Field trips, outdoor education and visiting lecturers are not excluded, however.

Cooperation and relaxed atmosphere create an optimum learning climate in the contemporary classroom, Westcott said, while competition and anxiety stimulate pupils in the traditional.

Contemporary assessment of learning is determined by observing changes in behavior, while traditional assessment is accomplished by pencil-and-paper tests resulting in letter grades. The traditional will have quarterly report cards, and failure in two or more academic subjects will cause retention in grade.

In both forms, Westcott said, discipline is paramount to a good learning environment.

The traditional, he said, emphasizes attention to the teacher, little or no communication among pupils, and a minimum of movement within the classroom during instructional periods. In a contemporary environment, pupils can move about as the needs of their projects call for use of various media, and they communicate to exchange information about what they are studying with their fellow pupils.

In neither case, he said, is discourtesy, boisterousness, or gymnasium-type behavior tolerated.

In answer to "dress code" questions, Westcott indicated that such codes are not permitted by law in public schools beyond the "neat and clean" level.

The traditional alternative will provide for emphasis on "neat and clean" as does the contemporary, he said, and parents will be free to prescribe to their children appropriate clothing.

Westcott also explained the three "structures" in the contemporary program.

In the "high", he said, the teacher sets the classroom atmosphere with close supervision. In the "medium", teacher direction is given but the pupil is left to work independently. A variety of teachers provide a variety of settings and group sizes.

The "low" structure is primarily self-motivated, he said. The pupil establishes his own goals. He has achieved an advanced level in grade programs, has a high degree of self-discipline, and has a wide variety of enrichment materials from which to choose.

Parents have been allowed to select the structure for their youngsters. Presently, about 30 percent are in the "high" structure, 60 percent in medium, and 10 percent in low.

By the end of the 1974 fiscal year, more than 400 State, county and city governments and other organizations had been designated prime sponsors to administer training activities under the decentralized manpower program, according to the U. S. Department of Labor.

Flood Plain Area Examined By Board

While formal action awaits the decision of the selectmen, it would appear that the federal government will be told that only the areas within the Merrimack and Shawsheen Rivers are to be considered within the flood plain boundaries of Andover.

The government recently dictated the drawing of boundaries and retained an engineering firm to study municipalities for such classification.

Flood plain zoning has been defeated twice at Andover town meetings, but federal regulations now dictate the designating of certain areas in town to which flood plain regulations will apply.

The map, designating areas was shown at a meeting of the selectmen a week ago, in which about every "puddle" in town was classed as flood plain. The selectmen are to respond to the proposal, after which the federal government will issue designation. Property within the flood plain area will be subject to stipulations which call for the owner to take flood insurance should the property be altered in any manner. Sale of the property would also be governed by the flood plain designation.

At the public hearing a week ago Town Manager J. Maynard Austin recommended that only the area bordering the Merrimack and the Shawsheen rivers should be designated, since they are the only ones with a history of serious flooding. The Shawsheen should be considered only to the dam at the DASA plant on Stevens street, he feels.

The map provided by the engineers retained by the government designated all wetland areas in town.

Among the properties listed as within the flood plain, according to the map, is the town hall.

Town Manager Austin explained that this was due to its location within the Rogers Brook area. It was one of several sections which Austin referred to as not being necessary for inclusion in any flood plain consideration.

There are areas in town where so-called "nuisance flooding," occurs, such as during the spring and at periods of heavy rainfall, but he felt strongly that these should not be considered as flood dangers and designated for federal regulation.

area. He called Carolyn, who befriended the visitor, and introduced her to other young people.

Wormwood also told of how Carolyn frequently visited an elderly neighbor who lived alone, playing cards and helping her to be less lonesome.

Finally, he told how Carolyn, while volunteering her time to teach young children to swim, had helped a child overcome her fear of the water.

Wormwood said Carolyn is outstanding scholastically, "and lastly she is modest."

"When I approached her in developing this resume," he said, "she demurred because she felt uncomfortable in relating her accomplishments to me. But I insisted."

An honor roll student, Carolyn was vice-president of the sophomore class and in the Student Leadership Program. She was a Student Government Day delegate, a member of American Field Service, the Debating Team, Prom Committee, Madrigal Singers, A Capella Choir, and a member of the varsity track/field team.

She is a diver on the varsity swim team, in the National Spanish Exam Competition, a member of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes and a Yearbook Representative. She has also been a piano accompanist for school events.

In the community, Carolyn has written articles for the TOWNSMAN and been a lecturer at St. Augustine's for Mass. She has been a volunteer geometry tutor, and a volunteer swimming instructor at the YMCA, and a volunteer lifeguard for Girl Scouts, children's pool parties, and the YMCA. She was also involved in the Better Community Project, Christian Youth Corp and Andover's Anti-Smoking Campaign, and has worked as a summer playground leader for the Recreation Department, a window clerk at McDonald's, and as a babysitter.

general membership Tuesday.

More than 200 teachers turned out for the meeting at Merrimack College. While unanimously rejecting the committee's salary offer, they did accept the factfinder's report in toto - indicating that they would settle for 7.5 and 7.5 percent.

Ms. Leahy said the AEA considers itself "pushed right up against the wall" and intends by its renewed job action and impending strike vote to show the committee the teachers are united.

The last three factfinder's reports, Ms. Leahy said, came back in favor of the school committee and this one time, when it tended more in favor of the teachers, "the school committee is not being reasonable."

When school opened without a contract last fall, the teachers went on a limited "job action", adhering only to the letter of last year's contract, showing up only 15 minutes before school, staying only 30 minutes after. They later began picketing in front of their buildings in the mornings.

Ms. Leahy said those activities had sort of "drifted off" for a while, but will now be back in full swing until the general membership meets again next Wednesday to discuss its next step. That step could, she said, be a strike.

Bantams Win Two During Busy Schedule

By Rick Harrison

The Andover Bantam A traveling hockey team recently went through a busy stretch of six games in 11 days, emerging with two victories and one tie over that span.

The results left Coach Dick Neal's club with a 4-7-2 overall record.

The string began with a 6-2 romp over the Lynnfield Bantams, followed by a 12-0 loss to the powerful Worcester AA Bantam All-Stars who own a 39-4-1 seasonal ledger to date.

Next came a 4-3 decision over Assabet Valley and a 3-3 deadlock against Portsmouth, N.H., and finally there were identical back-to-back 5-2 losses to Manchester, N.H. and visiting Pittsfield.

Lynnfield, 6-2

Andover stretched its modest winning streak through two games with this come-from-behind victory over Lynnfield at Merrimack College.

Not that the locals were that far behind, but Lynnfield struck with lightning quickness just eight seconds after the opening faceoff. A pass from left boards, moments after the center-ice draw, was tipped in by a player cutting in front of goaltender Todd Bateson.

Paul Farnham, one of six different Andover goalscorers in the game, tied it 1-1 with his seventh seasonal marker at 5:00 of the first period.

"He was sent in alone on a pass by Mike Anderson, and fired a 10-footer to the upper right corner," recalled Coach Neal.

The locals took the lead for good on a powerplay connection by Len Driscoll at 4:33 of the middle stanza. Farnham fed him a pass in close from the point, and Driscoll polished off the play with a fast shot.

Steve Morin's fourth seasonal goal at 5:53 proved to be the game-winner. Mike Anderson hit defenseman Phil Weeks with a pass at the blueline, and his long drive was tipped home by Morin.

Rookie Joe Cammarata upped the cushion to 4-1 at 9:23 with his sixth red-lighter, a 4-on-3 powerplay score with assists to Paul Farnham and Mark Guitarr.

Rookie rear-guard Jim Higgins collected his first goal at 11:12 for a 5-1 Andover spread. Steve Morin passes to John Sagaser in the right corner, who skimmed the puck to Higgins at the right point. Jim unloaded a 60-foot slapshot that found the twine.

Lynnfield closed to 5-2 with a lamplighter at 2:39 of the third period, but Wayne Merola got it back eight minutes later to complete the offense. Merola's fourth goal came on a five-foot flip to the far corner, assists to 13-year-old linemates Ken Southworth and Bruce Belbin.

Todd Bateson worked the entire game in net.

Worcester Romps, 12-0

"Needless to say this was a very strong team," noted Neal. "Not the same one we tied (3-3) earlier this season."

"We stayed with them fairly well through the early part of the game, and in spite of the score we did play well," added the coach.

The Worcester AA Bantam All-Stars led only 1-0 after the first period, but they poured in four second session goals to make it 5-1.

Seven more pucks found the Andover net in the third stanza, including three within a 45-second span during the fourth minute of play.

Ten penalties were called, six of them against Worcester.

Todd Bateson worked the first two periods in goal and Dave Cullinan the third.

It was the first time Andover has been shut out this season.

Assabet Falls, 4-3

Paul Farnham pocketed his eighth and ninth seasonal goals, while netminder Dave Cullinan turned in a fine shutout stint in relief, as Andover temporarily inched closer to the .500 mark with a 4-3 conquest of Assabet Valley at Merrimack College.

Wayne Merola opened the scoring with his fifth red-lighter, a powerplay connection at 7:16 of the first period. It came just eight seconds after an Assabet penalty, as Joe Cahill fed Dean Robinson at the point, and the rear-guard hit Merola in front for a five-footer to the far corner.

It took the visitors only 28 seconds to tie the contest, as a clearing pass around the net by starting goalie Todd Bateson was intercepted and rammed home.

Assabet took a 2-1 advantage after a 30-footer eluded Bateson at 2:02 of the second session, but Paul Farnham retaliated a mere 75 seconds later with an unassisted, shorthanded tally.

"Farnham picked off a clearing pass in the Assabet zone, moved in and fired a 15-footer to the upper left corner," explained Neal. Andover defenseman Jeff Hudgins was in the penalty box at the time.

Assabet regained a 3-2 edge by notching a shorthanded goal of its own, punching a rebound behind Bateson at the 6:13 mark.

Shortly thereafter, Dave Cullinan was inserted to play the second half of the game in the Andover cage, and he proceeded to blank Assabet.

Meanwhile, Len Driscoll squared matters 3-3 only 20 seconds after the third Assabet score. Driscoll's seventh goal came as he jammed in a rebound, with linemates Farnham and 13-year-old Joe Cammarata helping out.

The eventual game-winning red-lighter was potted by Farnham at 1:30 of the third canto, as Driscoll pushed a pass from the right side and the high-scoring Andover center put the puck in the near corner from close range.

Neal lauded the efforts of John Sagaser, Wayne Merola, Ken Southworth, Joe Cahill and goalie Cullinan.

Portsmouth Ties, 3-3

This had to be one of the most frustrating ties ever for Andover, as the locals squandered a 3-0 lead in the last 3:18 of play at the Great Bay Arena in Portsmouth.

It marked the first of three games within 2½ days for Neal's club, and it didn't help any when the host team pulled its goalie and scored twice in the final 11 seconds to tie.

Andover grabbed a 1-0 advantage at 1:19 of the opening period on Mike Anderson's fourth goal, assisted by John Sagaser, and the locals clung to that slim lead while skating off two Portsmouth powerplays.

Len Driscoll took a Paul Farnham feed and upped the score to 2-0 at 1:06 of the middle period.

Midway through the period Farnham was banished for six minutes, being hit with a misconduct penalty for throwing a broken stick away.

However, at the 10:16 mark rookie forward Ken Southworth pocketed his first Bantam A goal after a set-up feed from Joe Cammarata.

Andover goaltender Dave Cullinan sailed into the third period looking for his team's first shutout of the season. That was spoiled by a Portsmouth goal at 8:42. The New Hampshire sextet then pulled its goalie in the final minute, and the move paid off as rapid-fire scores at 11:49 and 11:53 created the stunning tie.

Manchester Wins, 5-2

The 3-3 draw with Portsmouth still fresh in its mind, Andover fell for the second time this year to Manchester, N.H. last Saturday night at the Souhegan Arena in Merrimack, N.H.

The Granite Staters had won their first meeting, 4-1.

Manchester grabbed a 2-0 opening stanza lead on goals at 2:25 and 12:00.

However, Len Driscoll cut the gap to 2-1 with a powerplay tally at 1:07 of the middle session. The man-advantage goal, assisted by Paul Farnham, occurred just three seconds after the penalty was whistled.

At 4:34 the locals apparently scored the tying goal, but the officials nullified it.

"The puck was in the net, but the referee disallowed it by saying it never went in," explained Neal.

Andover argued long and loud with no success, getting hit with a major penalty and bench minor for its troubles. A minor penalty to the host team 12 seconds later helped even things off, and the remainder of the game was filled with penalties.

Manchester notched the eventual game-winning marker at 10:26 to enter the third stanza atop a 3-1 cushion.

Penalties to Dean Robinson, Paul Farnham and a Manchester player put the locals at a 4-on-3 disadvantage during the final minute of the second period and opening moments of the third session.

Driscoll came through with a shorthanded red-lighter at 0:22 of the finale, however, taking a pass from defenseman Phil Weeks and slicing the deficit to a 3-2 with his tenth goal.

Manchester got that one back just 27 seconds later, and after five more penalties the New Hampshire club added an insurance goal with 1:41 to play.

Todd Bateson worked the first period in the Andover net, permitting two goals, and Dave Cullinan handled the second and third stanzas.

The game was punctuated with 18 penalties, 11 of them against Andover.

Pittsfield Wins, 5-2

Andover launched a four-game "homestand" at the Phillips Academy Rink by bowing to Pittsfield, 5-2, last Sunday morning.

The locals jumped in front 1-0 at 1:20 of the opening period, as Joe Cammarata capped a fine passing combination play with linemates Farnham and Driscoll.

But Pittsfield struck back with unchallenged goals at 5:25, 5:48 and 11:48 to make the long drive from Western Massachusetts seem bearable.

Farnham's tenth goal of 3:49 of the second frame, assisted by Cammarata, cut the gap to 3-2, but Pittsfield completed the offense with lamplighters at 4:13 and 6:52. The rest of the game was scoreless.

Todd Bateson went the distance in goal, and this was a relatively quiet contest with only four minor penalties called.

Warriors scorers: Nardone 40, Ben Bram 6, Doug Russell 3, Mike Beaty 2 and Ralph Hancock 1.

Knicks scorers: Bob Heidt 12, Mark Pearson 9, Mike Curley 6 and Jim Hayes 6.

Bulls scorers: Frank Griggs 33, Joel Smith 4, Chuck Fleming 2 and Mike MacDonald 2.

The Lions won the division's first half championship last week in a romp over the Cougars. The Eagles, Panthers and Cheetas didn't let up the pressure and kept the race close until the end.

Panthers - 27 Cheetas - 25

The Panthers extended their winning streak to five in a thriller with the Cheetas. Tied at 10 at the half, both teams went on a scoring spree in the third period with the Panthers scoring 15 and the Cheetas 13. Defense then dominated the last period, with each team collecting only a deuce.

Panthers scorers: Scott Gardner 13, Rich Morano 9, Tim Hart 2, Steve Holt 2 and Robbie Kochakian 1. Paul Marad and Andy McKissack were floor leaders.

Cheetas scorers: Chris Reichert 11, Geoff Reichert 7, Ken Smith 6 and Matt Wells 1. Alex Roberts also played well for the Cheetas.

Eagles - 23 Tigers - 20

In another close game, the Eagles had to come from behind to top the tough Tigers. Trailing 18-16 going into the last period, the Eagles out-scored the Tigers 7-2 for their fifth victory. The loss overshadowed a fine individual effort by the Tigers John Kramer who tallied 15 points, scoring in each of the periods.

Eagles scorers: Pete Crabtree 10, Rich Sasmbuco 6, John Muldoon 4 and Adam Wise 3. Jim Dietzel and Andy Shagoury led the Defensive effort.

Tigers scorers: Kramer 15, Dan Fleming 2 and Jon Baer 2. Tim Hurley and Jerry Witt were the Tigers' floor leaders.

Lions - 24 Cougars - 5

The Lions wrapped up the division's first half crown romping over the Cougars. Consistent offense coupled with the Cougars' inability to find the hoop resulted in the Lions' 6th victory.

Lions scorers: Art Dunlavy 6, Pat Beaudine 4, Pete Caplan 4, Bob Kimmeler 4, Jeff Bruk 2, Ken Doherty 2 and Dave Levin 2. Bruk and Roger Henderson led the Lions' defense.

Cougars scorers: Mike Dymek 2, John Robbins 2 and Robbie Harrison 1. Harrison, Mark Connolly and Dave Goldberg keyed the Cougars' defense.

Bears - 34 Jaguars - 5

In another romp, the Bears picked up their third victory. Again, the Bears were consistent while the Jaguars were ice cold.

Bears scorers: Mark Easton 14, Mike McGrath 6, Jeff Deveau 4, Bernie Kavanagh 4, Dennis McGrath 4, and Pat McLarney 2. Frank Drake and Jim Lowe also played well.

Jaguars scorers: Terry Flynn 4 and Hugh Meier 1. Rich Desmaris and Kelly Shannon were the Jaguars floor leaders.

Andover Students In Play

Two students from Andover have parts in the Phillips Academy French play to be given Friday night Feb. 13 at 8 p.m. in George Washington Hall.

Mark C. Shionis of 36 Wild Rose Drive and Mark S. Bedell of 9 Hemlock Road play the parts of a blacksmith and a cabinet minister, respectively, in the realm of King Gaspard in Bernard Chartreux's Le Chateau Dans Les Champs, a 1972 entry in the Festival d'Avignon in France.

In the play the peasants wage a successful revolution, and King Gaspard and his court end up working in the fields beside them. Young French intellectuals are great admirers of Maoist China, but few have left Paris for the farm.

OUR "ROAST" WAS TOO WELL DONE!

The "Roast" staged in my behalf last Sunday at the Sheraton Rolling Green Motor Inn was even more of a success than the committee's fond hopes. It was a fun thing, everybody had a great time and I am most grateful to all present for the efforts in my interests or simply for their presence.

A special word of thanks is addressed to the Honorable George Keverian, Chairman of the House of Representatives Redistricting Committee who expended the time and effort to be a great "Roastmaster".

The problem is that the "Roast" was too well done. In planning, it was felt by those in charge that our ticket count would accommodate all who might wish to attend. It turned out that more wanted to attend than we had tickets for. To you who found us "sold out", we say: "thank you for your support and we are sorry that we didn't anticipate response to our "Roast" more accurately."

St. Augustine's Takes Sixth Straight

THE TOWNSMAN, FEBRUARY 5, 1976

By Rick Harrison

St. Augustine B continued to cruise along undefeated by chalk-ing up its sixth straight victory, and Ballardvale United discovered a winning formula, highlighting Monday night action in the Intermediate Division of the Andover Church Basketball League at the East Junior High gym.

St. Augustine B (6-0) erupted in the third quarter enroute to a 37-26 victory over St. Augustine D, snapping the losers' win streak at two games.

Ballardvale built up a sizable halftime advantage, but had to fight back a determined St. Augustine C charge for a 15-14 triumph.

St. Augustine A gained sole possession of second place at 5-1, breaking things open in the fourth period to sink South Church, 24-9.

St. Robert's A helped create a four-way logjam in third place, dumping sister-club St. Robert's B 27-18 to leave those two at 4-2 along with St. Augustine D and Christ Church.

Christ Church, meanwhile, raced past St. Robert's C 31-18 for its fourth straight victory.

St. Augustine B, 37-26

Big Jack Horan popped in six first period points for St. Augustine B, offsetting buckets by Dave Fluet and Ed L'Italien, as the divisional leaders grabbed a 6-4 advantage.

Despite the fact Horan pumped through eight additional markers in the second stanza, St. Augustine D remained close at 16-10.

However, the third period told the tale as Bill Caselden and Horan combined for 15 points and the B quintet enjoyed a 17-3 run for a comfortable 33-13 spread.

Jack Horan finished the contest with a season-high 23 points, while Bill Caselden chipped in 8 third session points, Steve Paradis and Tim Madden swished baskets, and Mark Paradis had a brace of free throws. Pete Walsh was another standout.

E.J. Perry paced St. Augustine D with 8 points, six in the fourth quarter, and Ernie Costello added 7 second-half markers. Don Green and Ed L'Italien pocketed 4 points apiece, while Fluet bagged 3.

BU Wins, 15-14

Solo baskets by Todd McLeod, Gary Forbes and Glen Acciard propelled Ballardvale to a 6-2 first period advantage over St. Augustine C.

McLeod added three more points in the second quarter, while the stingy BU defense held the opposition scoreless, making it 9-2 at the half.

St. Augustine C turned the tables in the third frame, blanking United and closing the gap to 9-8 on the sharpshooting of Kevin Donnelly and Paul Kaminski.

The rival traded buckets down the homestretch, matching six-point fourth periods to keep it exciting. Forbes, Acciard and Don Hinckley connected for BU, while Donnelly canned four points and Steve Farrington had a fieldgoal for the losers.

Paul Thoday starred defensively for BU, while Glen Markey turned in a fine floor game for St. Augustine C. Donnelly led all scorers with 8.

St. Augustine A, 24-9

St. Augustine A had early problems getting its top divisional scoring machine in gear, but the defense hung tough and the second-place club clung to leads of 4-2, 10-5 and 14-9 at the first three quarter breaks.

The fourth quarter was a one-player show, as Ted Kelley hooped three floor shots and four charity tosses for all of St. Augustine's 10 points.

South failed to score in the final stanza as the game ended up 24-9.

Ted Kelley guided the attack with 16 points, Mike White stuffed 4, Dick Kelley dunked 2 and Tim Corkery scored 2 points for the victors.

All-around good performances were added by Tom Galvin, Mark Sullivan and Bill Coughlin.

Art Dunlavy paced South with 5 markers, Dale Lattanzio had a first quarter basket and Bruce Barnhill a third stanza bucket. Scott Robichaud also played well.

St. Robert's A, 27-18

After a first period that ended in a 4-4 stalemate, the two St. Robert's clubs took turns scoring in spurts.

Bob Leitch and Phil Farr had the hot hands in the second quarter for the A squad, as it moved out to a 15-6 halftime lead.

Paul Tassanari and Dan Lindsay led a third session charge by the B team that closed the gap to 21-16.

In the finale it was single baskets by Frank Byrne, Ken Saliba, and Bob Leitch that iced the verdict for St. Robert's A.

Frank Byrne emerged as game-high marksman with 11 points. Leitch tossed in 8 markers, Phil Farr 4, Kevin Byrne 2 and Ken Saliba 2. Pete Byrne was a defensive whizz for the winners.

Paul Tassanari turned in his typical all-hustle game and netted 8 points for the B team. Steve Cameron popped through 6 and Lindsay 4 points.

Dick Danner and Neil Saunders were other standouts for St. Robert's B.

Christ Church, 31-18

Scrappy St. Robert's C trailed surging Christ Church only 7-6 after one quarter, but Mark Rogers keyed a 12-2 burst by the winners in the second session

Top Teams Keep Streaks Alive

By Rick Harrison

The top three teams in the Senior Division of the Andover Church Basketball League registered victories last week in tripleheader action at the West Junior High gym, and it appears that the trio will go right down to the wire before a champion is crowned.

St. Robert's continued to roll with its sixth straight victory, a come-from-behind decision over Free Church, 30-23.

St. Augustine A remained equally hot, trimming South Church 37-17 for its fourth consecutive win.

St. Augustine B also kept pace following its 34-19 conquest of Ballardvale United.

The results left St. Robert's with a slim one game advantage over both St. Augustine quintets.

St. Robert's, 30-23

Divisional scoring leader John McNamara (90 points) of St. Robert's and runner-up Jeff Buck (71) of Free traded buckets, as this game got off to a slow start and was tied 2-2 after one quarter.

Free grabbed a 10-7 halftime bulge following second period floor shots by Buck, Doug Awley, Mike Travis and Glenn Wade.

St. Robert's turned the contest around in the third stanza, however, outscoring Free 9-2 for a 16-12 advantage. McNamara pocketed four points, Scott Praetz and Brian Rockwell contributed fieldgoals, and the only answering fire for Free was a two-pointer from Glenn Wade.

The divisional frontrunners extended their lead in the fourth quarter, sparked by McNamara and Praetz with four markers apiece. Mike Travis countered by swishing seven for the losers, but it wasn't enough.

Lefthander John McNamara led all scorers and scaled double figures for the seventh successive game with 12 points.

Scott Praetz hooped 9, Brian Rockwell 4, Frank Branco 2 points, Gregg Praetz 2 free throws and Steve Leitch contributed 1 charity toss.

Dan Saunders and Rich Marciano added fine floor games for St. Robert's.

Mike Travis bagged 9 points for Free. Glenn Wade caged 6 points, Jeff Buck 5, Doug Awley 2 and Keith Williams notched a foul shot.

Other Free standouts included Gary Lindstrom, Doug Kirkland and Mike King.

St. Robert's connected on 6-of-12 free throws, while Free hit 5-of-8.

St. Augustine A, 37-17

South kept this game tight for one quarter, trailing only 5-3 after the opening seven minutes of play.

But Jim Hayes popped through six points to power St. Augustine A on a 12-2 second period run for a comfortable 17-5 halftime lead. A 12-4 spread in the third quarter made it 29-9 before St. Augustine coasted home to its fourth straight triumph.

All nine players who saw action for the winners hit the scoring column, led by Jim Hayes with a game-high 14 points.

Joe Torrisi, Terry Schwing and Rich Gusmini flipped through 4 markers apiece. Bob Beaudine canned 3 points and solo buckets were delivered by Dan Russo, Bob Oelwang, Tim Doran and Dave Gusmini.

Steve Hughes powered the South attack with 8 points, Todd Hughes fired in 4, Steve Rathbun 3 and Bill Calthorpe had a first quarter basket.

Ted Stammers also played well for South, which competed minus the services of John Sagaser.

St. Augustine B, 34-19

St. Augustine B jumped to a 10-4 first stanza lead, as Frank Robinson pumped in four points and single baskets were swished by Tom Walsh, Dan Caselden and John Perowski.

The winners, outscoring Ballardvale United in every quarter, inched ahead 17-10 by intermission and 23-15 after three periods. An 11-4 run in the final canto added the necessary insurance.

Robinson emerged with game-high point laurels after scoring 11. John Perowski stuffed 9, Dan Caselden 6, John Walsh 4 and Tom Walsh 4 points. Scott Boucher also starred defensively for St. Augustine B.

The BU assault was headed by Jay McLeod with 6 points, followed by Jeff Roy and Scott Mattheson 4 each. Dave Brown had a first quarter basket, Betty Darling a third period fieldgoal, and Carolyn Darling garnered United's lone free throw.

Dave Livingston, Kevin Hollenbeck and Russ Bird were all-around standouts for BU.

St. Augustine B managed a 13-9 edge in floor shots, but really padded the difference with an 8-1 spread at the charity stripe. Robinson hit five of those free throws and Perowski the other three.

Fouls, Fouls

Once again all three games featured over-aggressive defense as 81 personal fouls were whistled by the referees.

The team breakdown reveals that Ballardvale committed 19 infractions, St. Robert's 17, St. Augustine A 15, Free 11, St. Augustine B 10, and South 9.

Camp Naomi Registration Underway

Registration for Camp Naomi, one of the most popular and well known Co-ed Jewish Communal Camps in New England, is now underway for the 1976 season, according to Leonard M. Katowitz, Executive Director.

Camp Naomi provides a varied program of activities, including sports, athletics, swimming, sailing, waterskiing, arts and crafts, dramatics, nature, outdoor camping in the White Mountains, and a variety of meaningful Jewish cultural activities.

Camp Naomi serves as the official resident camp of Jewish Community Centers throughout New England. The camp is affiliated with the National Jewish Welfare Board and is an accredited camp of the New England and American Camping Association. It is a non-profit camp.

Since Camp Naomi soon fills to capacity, early registration is recommended. Further information concerning Camp Naomi, including descriptive brochure may be secured by contacting your Jewish Community Center, or directly through Mr. Leonard M. Katowitz, Executive Director, Jewish Community Center Camps of New England, Inc., 50 Hunt St., Watertown, Mass.

that went a long way towards deciding the issue.

Rogers led all scorers with 15 points, Dave Menard fired in 8, Mark Frost produced 6 points, and John Rogers had a last period basket for Christ Church. Chris Connor also did a fine job for the victors.

The well-balanced St. Robert's C offense featured 6 points from Bob French and 4 apiece by Tony Romano and Scott Nottle. Yvonne Levesque notched 3 markers in the final quarter, while Marty Melia swished a free throw in the third period.

Mike Damphousse, Rich Griffin and Tom O'Brien were other St. Robert's sparkplugs.

Employment Picture Brightens At State Level

The Massachusetts unemployment rate continued its downward trend during December, according to John D. Crosier, Director of the Division of Employment Security. The State's seasonally adjusted rate was estimated at 11.8 percent of the work force, down from November's 12.2 percent.

The preliminary December estimate of 314,200 persons unemployed was the lowest for any month since last January.

All of the major labor areas registered declines in their unemployment rates, following the pattern at the state level. The biggest percentage of declines occurred in Boston where the unadjusted rate fell from 11.4 to 11.0 percent; Brockton, which dropped from 12.2 to 11.4 percent; and New Bedford, the metropolitan area that continues to have the highest rate, down from 14.3 to 13.7 percent.

Total employment registered a slight decline for the month, down from 2,443,600 to 2,434,200, a drop of 9,400. Jobs in retail trade establishments posted a lower than normal gain of 8400 jobs while the State's contract construction payrolls dropped by 5700. Employment in the State's manufacturing sector remained relatively stable.

Spurred by both employment increases and withdrawals from the labor force during the latter half of 1975, the number of unemployed has declined every month since June of this year when a record 393,500 individuals were estimated to be unemployed.

At the year's end, manufacturing employment had recovered significantly from the low levels reached earlier in the year. Although total manufacturing finished the year 21,100 jobs below December 1974 payrolls, two large durable goods industries survived the recession fairly well. Non-electrical machinery, with a backlog of orders, was able to end the year only 5,300 jobs below the previous December's levels, while payrolls in the electrical equipment and supplies sector experienced a decline of only 3,500 jobs below last year's total.

Employment in the non-durables sector has almost returned to 1974 levels. Jobs in textiles and apparel, buoyed up by consumer spending, actually increased during 1975.

Developments in the non-manufacturing industries were mixed. December payrolls in wholesale and retail trade establishments reached an all-time high of 552,200 workers. Contract construction remained depressed, finishing the year 17,200 jobs below December 1974. The lack of a turnaround in residential construction led to a decline in employment in the communications industry.

Director Crosier pointed out that the December rates are preliminary, as are all previously issued 1975 unemployment rates. They were derived from a Federally - mandated formula used to estimate unemployment throughout the country. Early in 1976, the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics will replace the preliminary 1975 estimates with final estimates. The BLS rates use Massachusetts data from the national sample of approximately 47,000 households from which the monthly national unemployment rates are computed.

Old Estate Is Transformed Into Pleasant Elder

The attractive new 96-unit housing complex for senior citizens will be ready for occupancy on North Main Street by April 1.

BRAND NEW, ONE bedroom, many with a view. Specially designed with private entrances. Community building for entertaining. Laundry facilities, medical room. Walk to stores. All electric; utilities paid. Rent as you can afford.

This could-be ad sounds even better when you add that prospective tenants must be at least 62 years old with a certain low income -- and then match it up with the new brick and glass apartments on North Main Street.

This, the town's third senior citizen project, will be ready for occupancy by the end of the month.

Tom Walsh, executive director of the Housing Authority, is still taking applications for the 96-unit complex, and is particularly seeking persons in wheelchairs for the seven specially-designed "handicapped apartments".

Walsh indicates that persons over 65 will be selected first, and then they will rent to qualified persons down to 62. A single person cannot have a yearly income of more than $6000 or a couple, more than $6300, and none can have assets exceeding $10,000.

Walsh also notes that the Authority will do its best to serve Andover residents first, though applicants from other communities are eligible as well, since this is a state - subsidized project.

Whatever the tenant's financial situation, his rent will be 25 percent of his monthly income. This scheme is geared to help him cope with inflation and the high cost of other necessities, while living on a fixed income.

The streamlined apartments are built for easy care and convenience, with vinyl-type floors and Anderson windows. The tiled bathtub - showers have several hold-bars to allow the elderly to use them without fear of slipping.

The seven first-floor apartments for the handicapped have even more "extras". The kitchen counter is dropped a few inches so a person can work from a wheelchair, and there are no built-ins underneath, so he can wheel right in close. There are no doors on the cabinets above, so he can easily see what he wants, and reach right up with the long-handled grabber gadget that many wheelchair persons use.

The handicapped bathrooms contain an oversized tile shower with a seat, and there are grab bars all the way around the room. Doors

The new, brick and glass apartments are seen through the windows of the old, brick and shingle Curran barn.

The two and three-story buildings contain one-bedroom apartments, some specially designed for the handicapped.

Pleasant Elderly Apartment Complex

throughout the apartments are extra-wide, so a wheelchair or crutches can get through comfortably.

While there's a fire alarm system throughout the project, in the handicapped apartments, the doors will automatically open in the event of a fire.

Because the handicapped apartments are slightly larger, to allow for extras, so are the apartments directly above them. These, Walsh says, will be reserved for couples. There are a few apartments on a third level, but most of the buildings are two stories. All apartments have a separate bedroom in addition to the living room and small kitchen.

The complex itself is built on the old Curran estate, and more or less surrounds the original barn, which has been renovated for use as a "community center".

The shingled exterior has been retained, and when the cupola is restored up top, it will be complete with a horse weather vane. Inside, the handsome supporting beams have been left exposed, along with some of the original stone foundation on the lower level. The walls at either end of the building are a mass of small-paned windows.

There's a small kitchen for snacks and parties, and a long wheelchair ramp winds down to the lower level where there will be washers and dryers for the complex, an office, and a health room. There the seniors will go for blood pressure and diabetes checks, flu shots and the like, instead of having to go over to The Haven or one of the other senior centers.

A fieldstone-enclosed terrace looks out over the North Main Street end of the complex, and the intersection where the State has agreed to install a stoplight to insure their safe crossing. Shawsheen Plaza and Shawsheen Square are only short walks away.

Construction on the project began October 1, 1974, and as of Dec. 31, 1975, had cost $1,973,096.

Members of the Housing Authority who are overseeing it all are Thomas P. Eldred, chairman; John B. White, Jr., vice-chairman; Winston A. Blake, treasurer; Thomas R. Wallace, assistant treasurer; Atty. Richard A. Savrann, assistant secretary; and Walsh, secretary and executive director.

The Authority also has two other elderly projects: 40 units at Chestnut Court and 40 at Grandview Terrace, plus 56 veterans units at Memorial Circle, near Chestnut and Morton Streets.

Applications for the new apartments may be made with Walsh at the Housing Authority office off Morton Street.

Old Curran barn will be "community center", complete with kitchen, medical room, laundry, offices, wheelchair ramp.

Our Affluence May Be Showing

Conservation and open space are pleasant subjects to ponder and certainly a popular attribute of the town of Andover.

Recreation is likewise an excellent service to provide town residents as an advantage of their taxes, when possible.

But, as town meeting approaches, the question for voters to decide this year is how much of these combined fringe benefits of being an Andover resident can we afford.

Before the annual session will be two articles, one calling for the bonding of $930,000 for land acquisition and an additional $70,000 for development of recreational facilities for the town.

In a year when most people are finding economic conditions difficult enough to cope with, we wonder if it is the proper time to consider a million dollars worth of open land.

These, of course, are preliminary thoughts on the overall bonding of $930,000 for land acquisition. We will, no doubt, be filled in more completely in the weeks preceding town meeting on the advantages of such land acquisition and recreational facility development.

One of the initial thrusts of such proposals is that it will not affect the tax rate this year. But realistically, a million dollar expenditure does not vanish from the scene just by town meeting approval. True, it's not heard from again on the floor of town meeting except for a passing mention in the municipal budget appropriation under the items bonds, principal and interest, an annual, continually rising account.

There are other considerations.

When the town back in the late 60's appropriated a substantial sum of money for acquisition of land by the conservation commission, there was such a thing as a self-help program, by which the town was reimbursed by the state for acquiring certain properties.

Such assistance is no longer available, and should the state provide some funding at some future date for conservation projects, it well might be that Andover would be frowned upon, simply due to the large amounts it has already received.

There are problems getting reimbursements for land acquisition for recreational use, as was found after the town approved the purchase of the Doyle land off High Plain Road.

Trails and such, considered "passive recreation", do not fall under the guise of reimbursable recreational activities.

Thus the town has land for which it paid in excess of $300,000 and, because it is to be used solely for passive recreation, may not be eligible for development assistance.

We can see merit to acquisition of property to protect the Haggett's Pond and Fish Brook watershed areas.

There is merit to obtaining the Shawsheen land owned by Sacred Heart. Here is a densely populated area where some recreational activity could be provided. The fields are usable in their present condition, with possibly only a little routine maintenance needed.

But, here again, the issue is clouded by desires of a group from Shawsheen, who are seeking approval of funds to acquire both the land and buildings involved in the Sacred Heart package, in two separate articles before town meeting.

Open town meeting being what it is, a substantial block of votes could possibly be delivered for such acquisition, should the Shawsheen neighbors band together for such an effort.

Growth is another concern of some town officials, who indicate that land acquisition can be an effort toward effective control.

Which brings us to the question of the righteousness of barring further development of the town, by those who already hold occupancy here.

Basically, we feel that conservation and open space has merit in all communities, if such can be afforded.

At this point, granting that town meeting is still several weeks away, we look upon substantial funding for land acquisition as not in the best interests of sound municipal economic practice.

There would appear to be more pressing financial matters to attend to before we continue making donations to our land bank, which deprives us of interest, or at least it does not produce the proper green to keep us in good financial shape.

Auxiliary Power Gets Ample Test

The auxiliary power unit at the town's new water treatment plant passed a severe test with flying colors this past weekend.

The jet engine which clicks on when the electrical power goes off, ran the plant for about a 72-hour period, after a cable coming into the plant broke.

What caused the cable to burst is as yet undetermined, but repair required considerable time.

The auxiliary power unit proved its capability as well as worth during the period, proving it can provide the necessary power to meet the town's requirements during extended periods of time.

Resumption of normal power flow took place Tuesday morning.

Economics Of Solid Waste On Agenda

The economics of operation of the proposed solid waste plant for the Merrimack Valley will be on the agenda for the meeting of the selectmen when they convene Monday at 7:30 p.m. in the Memorial Hall Library meeting room.

Representatives of Mitre Corporation, Union Oil Products and others connected with the regional project will be on hand to explain the financial operation of the plant which is to serve area communities.

Still under consideration by the solid waste study committee is a location for the plant, with Haverhill, Methuen and North Andover sites still in the running.

Also due for possible discussion by the board is the municipal operating budget for the coming year.

No Slush Fund In The Snow Account

Up until this year, winter weather hadn't been severe on the town's budget, but the current year is another story.

Funds in the snow removal account are running out and additional storms may require some action of the finance committee of the annual town meeting.

Heavy snow, icy conditions and generally typical New England winter weather, has resulted in all of the funds carried in the hired equipment account to be depleted.

The overtime account for municipal crews for storms is also pretty well gone and two-thirds of the money used for sand and salt operations is also spent.

Town Manager Maynard Austin reported this week, that additional storms may require a request to the finance committee for a transfer of funds or waiting until the annual town meeting at which time a supplemental budget will be presented to the voters for approval.

Negotiations Continue

Negotiations between the town and members of the union representing the public works department moved closer to some agreement this week, but no final decisions have been reached as yet, according to Town Manager J. Maynard Austin.

Contract talks have been going on for over a year between the town and the DPW.

Negotiations are now underway with the firefighters union and additional talks were held on a new contract this past week.

Record Earnings At Standex

Standex International Corporation (NYSE) reported record sales, earnings and earnings per share for the fiscal second quarter ended Dec. 31. Daniel E. Hogan, Chairman and Chief Executive, stated that the record results "exceeded our expectations", and he added that the company anticipated "increasingly stronger gains" over the prior year in the last half of fiscal 1976. Standex operates on a June 30 fiscal year.

Sales in the second quarter amounted to $48.8 million, up 3 percent from last year's $47.5 million. Net income amounted to a record of just over $2 million, or 73 cents per common share, up 4 percent from $1.9 million, or 71 cents per share in the prior year.

In the first fiscal half, sales amounted to just over $90 million, down 2 percent from the $92.1 million sales of last year. Net income amounted to $3.4 million or $1.22 per share, down 4 percent from last year's $3.5 million, or $1.28 per share.

Announcing the results, Mr. Hogan stated that, "as far as Standex is concerned, the recession is largely behind us. We are very gratified and encouraged by the speed and magnitude of the company's recovery. The full year may not set new corporate records, but it will probably be the second best year in the history of Standex." Mr. Hogan added that earnings for the full fiscal 1976 year should exceed last year's $1.96 per share "by a substantial margin".

In view of the "excellent results", Standex's Board of Directors yesterday raised the quarterly dividend to 7 percent to 15 cents per common share -- up from 14 cents -- to an annual rate of 60 cents per share.

Mr. Hogan attributed the "excellent" corporate results to a "major turnaround" in the consumer products area, a "real pickup" in several key industrial operations, and improvement in the institutional products sector. The Consumer Products Group, which reported sizable losses in each of the last two years, has returned to profitability. Earnings of that group in the second quarter rose over 400 percent on an 11 percent rise in sales.

In the Industrial Products Group, the engraving and electronics operations made sizable gains over the prior year, while the steel joist business showed significant losses. The latter business has been severely affected by the continuing recession in the construction industry. Results in the Graphic Group have trailed last year's performance as a result of the continuing softness in the commercial printing market.

WEEKLY SPECIAL

IRS Harassment

by Jack Anderson
with Joe Spear

WASHINGTON — We receive constant complaints from taxpayers who say they have been bullied and browbeaten by the Internal Revenue Service.

Of course, the IRS is supposed to be firm but fair with all taxpayers. Rich and poor alike are supposed to be equal in the sharp eye of the tax collectors. Top officials tell us they try to administer the tax laws without regard for social standing or political pull.

Yet policy and practice don't always coincide. Tax settlements are often reached by a process about as equitable as a medieval trial by fire.

The rich man has recourse to lawyers and experts who can find loopholes in the law or can stall a case in the courts. In contrast, those without money are often hounded by collectors whose methods would put a loan shark to shame. Many a widow's last mite has been snatched from her. Men have been stripped of their livelihood and, along with it, their only means of paying the government.

We have been investigating IRS harassment. Here are just a few examples. We have left out the victims' names to spare them from further retribution:

— A businessman in Washington complained that IRS agents actually rifled his cash register to collect delinquent taxes.

— The wife of an airline pilot under Internal Revenue investigation received abusive phone calls from agents.

— IRS agents began an investigation into a Florida doctor's private life. Several of his patients were interviewed.

— An unemployed man in Montana had all the funds in his pathetic bank account seized by the IRS.

One of the most insidious federal weapons is the jeopardy assessment, which is supposed to be used to tie up the funds of a taxpayer who might try to skip the country. Agents have used this power indiscriminately, however, to force settlements out of reluctant taxpayers.

Now, the victims of Internal Revenue abuse may get their day on the witness stand. We have learned that a Senate subcommittee, headed by Senator Joseph Montoya, will hold hearings on tax harassment in April. The subcommittee will go to the people and hold hearings in Chicago, New York City, Oklahoma City and San Francisco.

We also understand masks will be provided for witnesses who don't want to be identified.

Dragon Lady: There is one foreign visitor whom the State Department hates to see. She happens to be one of the world's most glamorous women.

She is the First Lady of the Philippines, Imelda Marcos, a beautiful woman whose beguiling smile has charmed the scowls of the world's most cantankerous leaders.

But the protocol officials at the State Department grit their teeth every time she shows up in the United States. She seldom bothers to notify them. She simply arrives, unannounced.

Then she starts making difficult demands and poking her nose into delicate matters. She has come to be regarded more as a pest than a guest.

She always insists, for example, upon a White House reception. And she gets her dander up if it doesn't meet her expectations.

She suddenly appeared in this country late last year, for example. She loitered around New York City for a number of days with little to do. A confidential report on her visit claimed she was waiting for Spain's Dictator Franco to die so she could fly to Madrid for the funeral. She likes the pomp and ceremony of such international occasions.

Meanwhile, she asked to be received at the White House. There was bickering over schedules. But a 45-minute tea break was arranged with Betty Ford. Imelda showed up but was detained at the White House gate. Someone had failed to notify the guards. She was furious.

Then President Ford neglected to drop by to greet her at the tea session. She became more furious. Finally, the two First Ladies exchanged gifts. Imelda was so disappointed in her gift that she left it behind.

She was literally sputtering with rage, according to our sources, when she left the country.

Mexican Connection: At the Justice Department, attorneys are preparing an unprecedented indictment against one of Mexico's top law enforcement officials. He will be accused of conspiring with the drug smugglers he was supposed to be investigating. They smuggled millions worth of heroin into the United States.

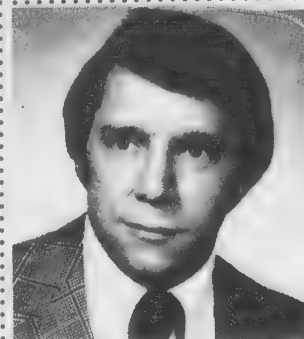

The U.S., we learned, has brought this case to the personal attention of Mexico's President, Luis Echeverria, who is cooperating in the investigation of his own official.

Washington Whirl: Twelve years ago, a letter bearing the signature of Congressman Gerald Ford was worth but a few cents. Today, President Ford's autograph sells for about $150. Chile's military junta apparently feels a kinship for other autocrats, regardless of their political stripes. In November, the Chilean embassy lowered its flag to half-mast to mourn the death of Spain's fascist leader, Francisco Franco. The flag went down again a few weeks ago in honor of Chinese Communist Premier Chou En-lai. The heat failed in the office of federal energy chief Frank Zarb recently, but he soon had a roaring fire going in his antique fireplace. He used old copies of The Wall Street Journal to start it. One Senator, who begged anonymity, told us he rolls up copies of the Congressional Record for fireplace logs.

What Our Readers Say-

To the Editor of the TOWNSMAN

Today I received from the Department of Schools a form requesting my desire as to registering my children in a traditional program of teaching and where I would like this to take place.

The point that bothers me is the School Department's willingness to go backwards to an archaic means of schooling.

Now the older people of this town will probably react to this statement by saying, "When I was a kid the traditional method of teaching worked fine." Well, 10 to 20 years ago that was all that was necessary to "get through school". But now, to "get through" is an invitation to a non-productive future for many since the highly technical society, of which we are now a part, will pass by the mediocre student/worker.

I have read literature from the "traditional" groups - their desires are reflected in the school department's willingness to go to a one teacher, one classroom approach.

With all the knowledge and experience that the town has compiled in the teaching staffs of our schools, would it not be wise to seek their professional attitudes?

Who else should know the best ways to develop children's minds?

I am not an educator - However, to me it seems that all of one method or all of another is absolute folly.

Why is it that neither side will propose a compromise where the smart, aggressive student is allowed to blossom into many areas, such that his interest is continually stimulated (i.e. open concept) and the less imaginative, slow student, who is stymied by open concept, be placed in a structured learning scheme?

I cannot understand why walls must be erected, or knocked down, in the school buildings to facilitate one system or the other.

The answer is a better approach by our educators - an approach that places our children first - an approach that nurtures each student's individual abilities.

Squares For Quilt

A Bicentennial theme is being carried out during Catholic Schools Week being observed at St. Augustine's next week. Youngsters have participated in the making of a Bicentennial Quilt as part of the program. Holding squares for the quilt are, front, from left, Chris Cavallaro, Peter Lyons, Cecila Durham, Francis Odium. Back row, Alexandra Holbrook, Sheila Burke, Suzanne Jensen and Jan McLarny.

Catholic Schools Week Observed

Catholic Schools Week is being observed in many schools around the nation from Feb. 8 through Feb. 14 this year. The theme which emphasizes our freedom to choose a specific educational system, emphasizes also the thrust of the Bicentennial Year.

Among the projects to be highlighted at St. Augustine's School is the completion and display of a Bicentennial Quilt which the children have been making during the past few weeks. Each class has worked on several pieces depicting historical places and aspects of our past. Grade Seven Girls are holding the "Quilting Party" which will complete the process of putting all the pieces together, and hanging for display.

Other activities during the week will include Open House on Wednesday and Thursday, Feb.

11 and 12 from 9:20 a.m. to 1:20 p.m., during which time regular classes will be open to all visitors. Parents and guests will also be invited to specific homeroom events and activities at various times. A musical concert presented by Grades 6, 7 and 8 will be held Wednesday evening at 7:30 p.m. in the school hall and all students will have the opportunity during the week to participate in an Oratorical Contest.

Registration for the 1976-'77 Kindergarten class will be held on Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday mornings from 9:30 until 11:30 a.m. There are limited openings on other grade levels also. Those interested may also apply at this time.

Judge Zoll To Address Social Action Group

Judge Samuel Zoll, District Court Judge in Salem, is speaking at the Unitarian Universalist Church on Feb. 6. Part of the church's Social Action Forum, Judge Zoll's talk will focus on alternatives in justice, especially for juveniles.

The event will take place from 8 to 10 p.m. on Friday, Feb. 6 at the Unitarian Universalist Church building, 244 Lowell St., Andover.

Chaired by Marlene and Stan Ostrowski, the church's Social Action Committee has successfully planned a discussion with Sheriff Buckley, as well as beginning to plan a Social Action Fair at the church in late March. For those interested in becoming involved in this approach to solving social problems, the Ostrowski's can be reached through the church office.

Judge Zoll is well remembered for his innovative use of sentencing, including a case in which the father of a delinquent was sentenced to a month of dinners with his family. Admission to the forum is free of charge and it is open to all. The purpose of the forum is to provide a place where people can come together and discuss current issues, learn, and share ideas.

CDA Meets

Court St. Monica, Catholic Daughters of America, 783, will hold its monthly meeting Thursday, Feb. 19, in Good Counsel Hall, St. Augustine's Church. Rev. Edward G. Robinson, OSA, will be the guest speaker and will give a talk on Japan.

Mrs. Mary Luceri is chairman of the evening.

Reservations are being made for Romney's and a deposit will be due at this meeting.

St. Robert's School Has Open House

Registration forms for next September's classes may be obtained at the two-day Open House being held on Wednesday, Feb. 11 and Thursday, Feb. 12 at St. Robert's Country Day School, Haggetts Pond Road, West Andover.

The non-denominational cooperative Nursery School has an enrollment of forty pupils and a staff of four certified teachers this year, and meets Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of each week from 9-11:30 a.m.

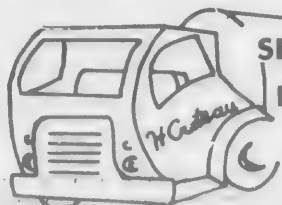

If interested, parents are invited to come between 9:15 and 11 a.m. on either Feb. 11 or 12 and see the classes in session. Parents' Board members and the school director will be available to answer questions.

For further information, contact the school Registrar, Mrs. James Hallice. Children must be four years of age by Dec. 31, 1976 to be registered.

The three heroines are Abigail Minis, one of the first Jewish settlers in the colony of Georgia; Sybil Ludington, the "teenager who outrode Paul Revere"; and Elizabeth Freeman, the first slave to be freed in the colony of Massachusetts.

Peace Chapter is bringing the life stories of these women to school children in North Andover, Andover, Lawrence, Methuen and Salem, N.H., through portrait dolls which recapture the Revolutionary period in face and dress.

"Dolls For Democracy", one of B'nai B'rith Women's many educational programs, is bringing to thousands of school children, through dramatic presentation, the lives of the great humanitarians of past and present who have served the cause of freedom.

B'nai B'rith Women, an international Jewish women's service organization with more than 150,000 members, was one of the national organizations to receive an award from the American Revolution Bicentennial Administration. The award was given for the "Dolls" program and for two other BBW educational programs: the filmstrip "Jews in America", and "Memory Bank Treasury", an oral history program in which memories of older adults are recorded on tape as a valuable contribution to history.

Tax Break Tips

By J. Paul Finnegan
President, Massachusetts Society
Of Certified Public Accountants

(First in a series of articles on 1975 income taxes.)

How can you hold down your income tax bill this year?

The same way you can, and should, do it every year: make full use of the four basic tools for reducing the income subject to taxes, for lowering the rate at which the tax is levied, and in some cases for having part of the tax forgiven. The four are: adjustments, deductions, exemptions, and tax credits.

Adjustments, such as sick pay and moving expenses, are attractive because they reduce gross income, leaving "adjusted gross income," a much smaller target for the tax collector to aim at.

Deductions (for taxes and interest paid, contributions, medical costs, etc.) are nice, too; they, and the exemptions we get for ourselves and our dependents, reduce adjusted gross income still further -- to "taxable income."

But tax credits (on low incomes, new home purchases, retirement income, political contributions, etc.) are best of all, because they can be deducted, dollar for dollar, from the taxes owed.

In subsequent articles, each of these four basic tax-reducing devices will be taken up in some detail, to help readers avoid paying a penny more in taxes than is required.

In the meantime, what new tax-saving opportunities are available this year? The big changes over the 1974 tax picture are:

1) If you use the standard deduction instead of itemizing, you can now deduct 16 percent of adjusted gross income, with a maximum of $2,300 for single persons, and $2,600 for couples filing joint returns or surviving spouses. For a married person filing a separate return the maximum is $1,300.

2) There's also a new minimum standard deduction of $1,600 for singles, $1,900 for married couples, but you don't have to compute it because it's built into the tax tables.

3) The level of gross income below which you don't even have to file a tax return has been raised to $2,350 for singles, $3,400 for joint filers, $2,650 for a surviving spouse and $750 if married and filing separately.

4) Because of efforts last summer to stimulate the lagging economy, all taxpayers, regardless of their tax bill, can subtract $30 from what they owe, plus another $30 for each dependent.

5) Qualified low-income taxpayers, with adjusted gross income under $8,000, get a credit of 10 percent of earned income, up to a maximum credit of $400 on $4,000 of earned income. They lose the credit at the same 10 percent rate as their income rises above $4,000 so the credit is lost when income hits $8,000. If the credit exceeds taxes owed, the excess is paid to the taxpayer like a refund. To qualify, you must have maintained a household in this country with at least one dependent child.

6) If, in order to hold a job, you had to pay for the care of a dependent who is under 15 or disabled or your spouse, you may be able to claim up to $4,800 a year of such expenses, if your combined incomes did not exceed $18,000.

7) If you bought a new home in 1975, under certain conditions, you may be eligible for a tax credit of 5 percent of the purchase price, up to $2,000.

8) If you sold a home, you have 18 months, rather than 12, to defer any capital gain tax by reinvesting in another home costing at least as much. (You have 24 months if you build a new home as the replacement.)

In the second article in this series, we'll take up tax adjustments that can save money for most taxpayers.

The $70,000 item is a part of the $1 million program recommended by the open space-recreation special committee.

The committee had recommended it to be part of the entire bond issue but recreation facilities development can not be a part of a bond issue, thus $930,000 will be for land acquisition through the deferred payment route.

Included in the bond issue is consideration of the Sacred Heart land in Shawsheen. The committee has recommended acquisition of the land only for recreation and open space in the Shawsheen area.

But the Friends of Shawsheen Neighborhood Association, have inserted two articles for town meeting action, one dealing with acquisition of the total parcel, land and buildings, as well as the article for the land alone.

The $2,650,000 bond issue for water main improvements is in conformity with the town master plan and an effort to implement the total plan, rather than on a piecemeal basis as has been the case in prior years.

TOWN OF ANDOVER PLANNING BOARD PUBLIC HEARING

In accordance with Chapter 40A, G.L. notice is hereby given that the ANDOVER PLANNING BOARD will hold a public hearing, Monday, February 23rd, 1976 at 8:00 P.M., in the CONFERENCE ROOM, TOWN HALL, SECOND FLOOR, for the consideration of the following amendments to the Zoning Bylaw:

ARTICLE 1.

To see if the Town will vote to amend the Zoning Bylaw, Article VIII, Section IV.B. (Table of Use Regulations), Paragraph 25 by deleting the entire paragraph and substituting the following therefor:

25. Repair garage or body shop for motorized vehicles.
and - - -

amend the Zoning Bylaw, Article VIII, Section IV.B. (Table of Use Regulations), Paragraph 36 by deleting the words "in a residence district" and substitute therefor the words "for residences in any district".

ARTICLE 2.

To see if the Town will vote to amend the Zoning Bylaw, Article VIII by making the following changes in the Industrial D categories:

1. YARDS AND FRONTAGE

Amend Section V "Dimensional Requirements, A, Table of Dimensional Requirements", revising entries in the Industrial D row, to provide as follows:

Minimum Lot Dimensions
Area, sq. ft.	50
Frontage, ft.	50
Minimum Yard Depth
Front, ft.	100
Side, ft.	100
Rear, ft.	100
Max. Height
Feet	50
No. of stories	3
Max. coverage, incl. Accessory buildings	25%

2. YARD CONTROL

Amend Section V "Dimensional Requirements", Paragraph B. "Exceptions and Special Requirements", Section 8. "Industrial Districts", by inserting a new subsection "c" to read as follows:

c. In all industrial districts, yard depth requirements will be measured from the street line of a public way or internal access road, whichever is applicable.

d. In Industrial District D, required yard areas shall be developed and maintained only for lawns, landscaping, walks, driveways, and parking areas; provided, however, that no parking area shall be located within fifty feet of any street line unless a special permit to reduce this requirement is granted by the Board of Appeals upon its determination that circumstances of the site and its design provide control of visual intrusion and traffic comparable to the usual application of this requirement.

3. OFF-STREET PARKING

Amend Section VI "Other Requirements", Paragraph A "Parking" by deleting Section 4 Industrial Districts, and replacing it with the following:

4. Industrial Districts

a. Intent and Application

Adequate off-street parking must be provided on the premises to service all parking demand created by new construction, whether through new structures or through additions to existing ones, or by change of use creating higher parking demand.

Buildings, structures and land uses in existence on the effective date of these provisions are not subject to these parking requirements and may be rebuilt, altered or repaired, but not enlarged or changed in use, without becoming subject to them.

In applying for building or occupancy permits, the applicant must demonstrate that the minimum parking requirements set forth below will be met for the new demand without counting existing parking.

These requirements may be reduced on special permit for an exception from the Board of Appeals upon its determination that special circumstances render a lesser provision adequate for all parking needs.

"b. Schedule of Requirements

Use # (Sec. IVB)	Description	Requirement
9, 13, 17, ...	Recreation, school, restaurant	One space per four persons max. occupancy, based on Table 6-1, Mass. State Building Code
20.	Office	One space per 300 sq. ft. usable floor area
21.	Motel, hotel	One space per guest unit plus one space per eight guest units
28, 29.	Lab, manufacturing	0.75 space per employee on largest shift, but capable of expansion to not less than one space per 300 sq. ft. usable floor area
31, 32, 33, 34A, 34B.	Misc. uses	Determined by Building Inspector on advice of Planning Board.

"c. Parking Lot Design

"Not more than one driveway shall be permitted in any 150 feet of frontage.

"In Industrial D Districts, the following shall apply unless the Building Inspector, upon advice of the Planning Board, determines that alternative provisions provide comparable control of traffic flow, microclimate, and visual intrusion. Each parking area shall contain no more than 240 spaces, with no more than 30 spaces in any uninterrupted row. Each parking area shall be enclosed (except for access points) by a landscaped buffer not less than twelve feet wide and shall have additional landscaping equivalent in area to one parking space for each thirty spaces provided.

d. Loading

Adequate off-street loading facilities and space must be provided inside or rear areas, only to service all needs created by new construction whether through new structures or additions to old ones, and by change of use of existing structures. Facilities shall be so sized and arranged that no trucks need back onto or off of a public way or internal access road, or be parked on a public way or internal access road while loading, unloading, or waiting to do so.

4. DESIGN CONTROLS

Amend Section VI "Other Requirements" by adding Paragraph H, to read as follows:

"H. Industrial D

All development in an Industrial D District shall be subject to the following, unless a special permit for an exception to these requirements is granted by the Planning Board upon its determination that alternative provisions provide comparable protection for adjoining parcels and ways:

1. All utility service lines shall be placed underground. All transformers, meters, or similar utility apparatus shall be placed on or below the surface of the land and be screened from view.

2. All developed land area not covered by buildings, parking areas, driveways and other site improvements shall be landscaped and all parking areas shall be screened by landscaping (see Sections VI.C.2 and VI.A.4 (c)). All undeveloped portions of land may remain in the natural state providing such areas do not create a hazard or nuisance.

3. Walkways and parking areas shall be adequately lighted. No outdoor lighting shall be mounted higher than twenty-five feet above finished grade, and lighting sources shall be shielded to prevent excessive glare on adjoining property.

4. All rooftop mechanical equipment shall be grouped and screened.

5. Site Plan Review

a. Prior to application for building permits on projects involving 10 or more parking spaces, three prints of the plot plan shall be submitted to the Planning Board for advisory review. Prints of the plot plan shall be referred by the Planning Board to the Conservation Commission, and the Department of Public Works for their review and written advisory reports, Planning Board comments, if any, shall be returned to the applicant within 30 days of submission.

"b. Plans subject to this section shall show dimensions of the lot, size and location of existing and proposed structures, adjacent streets and ways, existing and proposed topography, any wetlands, storm drainage, underground utilities, drives, walks, loading and parking, retained v. created landscaping, lighting, and sign locations.

"c. Plans subject to this Section shall be designed so as to assure safety of internal circulation and egress, provide adequate access to each structure for fire and service equipment, and provide adequate utility service and drainage, consistent with the functional intent of Section IV, Design Standards, of the current Subdivision Regulations of the Andover Planning Board."

5. SIGNS

Amend Section VI "Other Requirements", Paragraph B. "Signs", subparagraph d. "Industrial Districts", by deleting sub-subparagraph (2) in its entirety, replacing it with the following:

(2) Signs attached flat against the wall of a building, advertising the name of the firm or goods or services available or produced on the premises; provided that the total area of all such signs does not exceed ten (10) percent of the area of the side of the building to which they are attached, or 100 square feet, whichever is less.

and by deleting the last sentence in sub-subparagraph (3) and replacing it with the following:

"Such sign shall not be located closer than ten (10) feet to any property line or the line of any way and no part of any such sign shall be more than six (6) feet above ground level.

ARTICLE 3

To see if the Town will vote to change from Industrial A to Industrial D a portion of land in West Andover described as follows: Beginning at the intersection of the centerline of Interstate Route 93 and the centerline of the Merrimack River (Assessors' Map 164), thence running easterly by the centerline of the Merrimack River to the northerly extension of the easterly line of Lot 1 (Assessors' Map 125), thence southerly 3,000 feet more or less along the easterly line of Lot 1 and Lot 1A (Assessors' Map 125) and Lot 3 (Assessors' Map 126) to a point 200 feet northerly of the centerline of River Road, thence westerly on a line 200 feet northerly and parallel to the centerline of River Road 820 feet more or less to the easterly line of Lot 10 (Assessors' Map 143), thence southerly by the easterly line of Lot 10 (Assessors' Map 143) 200 feet to the centerline of River Road, thence westerly along the centerline of River Road and Old River Road to the centerline of Interstate Route 93 (Assessors' Map 165) thence northerly along the centerline of Interstate Route 93 to the point of beginning.

Ivory Gull Makes Rare New England Appearance

The hope that springs eternal has paid off again. This time the reward was an ivory gull.

That this rare Arctic gull was discovered at Salisbury Beach on the first frost of autumn, all telescope-owners within weekend commuting distance have patrolled that beach for a second coming of the Ross' gull. The Ross' gull has not been seen in New England since the late 19th century, but birders are optimistic that the gull will strike the same spot any number of times.

The Rev. and Mrs. C. Leon Strickland of Rochester, N.H., and their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Carl L. Strickland of Union Springs, N.Y., discovered the ivory gull Dec. 22. The bird was patrolling the jumble of ice blocks that the sea has stacked in the small inlet that serves as a boat-launching spot for the state beach. The Ross' gull was discovered at the same site as the first sighting. Mr. Strickland reported the discovery to Tudor Richards of the Audubon Society of New Hampshire and to James Baird and Richard Forster of the Massachusetts Audubon Society. Along with Paul Miliotis of Dunstable, they confirmed Mr. Strickland's identification the following day.

In the past, ivory gull visits usually lasted one day or less. The present bird gives promise of being more durable. While it has disappeared for entire days, so far it has reappeared the following day after each absence.

While not quite equal to that epitome of rareness enjoyed by the Ross' gull which was the only member of its species ever seen in New England, the ivory gull ranks high among exotics. It's the sort of bird that your father may have seen in his youth and if one does not come along in your lifetime there's still hope that your children might see one. Ludlow Griscom listed an ivory gull shot Dec. 1, 1886, on Monomoy by a coastguardman; another was seen at Nauset in March, 1931; another at Newburyport Jan. 14, 1940, and "two or three" the same day at Cape Ann; a sick bird was at Rockport, Jan. 27, 1946, and an immature Jan. 26 and 29, 1949 on Plum Island.

Forster saw the latest ivory gull from 15 feet. He reported a slight yellowish cast on its otherwise pure white plumage. Its bill was greenish-blue at the base, with the tip third greenish-yellow. Its size was near that of the laughing gull, which makes it a medium-sized gull, smaller than the herring gull.

Ivory gulls breed in northern Greenland and on Arctic islands in the vicinity. They remain in the far north the year around. In the darkness of Arctic winter, ivory gulls follow open leads in the pack ice, feeding on the offal of seals, polar bears and Arctic foxes. An occasional dead whale provides them a sumptuous repast. Most ornithologists have referred to them as voracious eaters, which is another way of saying that any animal which has so few chances of finding food makes the most of anything it finds.

Juris Doctor degree, and served on the editorial staff of the Suffolk University Law Review, he also is a graduate of Mass Maritime Academy where he received a B.S. degree in marine and electrical engineering.

He served in the U.S. Merchant Marine and attained the rank of Lt. J.G. in the U.S. Naval Reserve.

Married, he is the father of six children.

In announcing his candidacy, Atty. Kenny said:

"As a parent of six children, three of whom will be in the Andover public school system this September, I am deeply interested in both the present and the future of the Andover public school system.

"Two years ago, my wife and I deliberately chose to live in Andover because of the interest this community has always shown in providing sound educational programs for its children.

"This year, as in most recent years, our community is attempting to provide options that might be available to children whose parents advocate the traditional vs. open approach to education. As a lawyer and former instructor of law at Suffolk University Law School, I believe that I can offer a sound, objective approach to such efforts.

"As legal counsel and consultant to the Danvers school committee and as Town Counsel for the town of Danvers, I have substantially participated in collective bargaining and Chapter 766 core - evaluations and determinations, which I believe will be helpful in formulating policies for the Andover Schools in these critical areas.

A petition has been presented to said Court by WILLIAM J. GOSSELIN of Hampton Beach in the State of New Hampshire representing that he holds as joint tenant certain land lying in Andover in said County of Essex and briefly described as follows: the land in said Andover, with the buildings thereon, bounded and described as follows: Beginning at the northeasterly corner thereof at a point on the southerly line of Haverhill Street at land now or formerly of JAMES BLAMIRE et ux; thence running southerly by said BLAMIRE land 250 feet to a point; thence turning and running easterly by said land of BLAMIRE 60 feet to a point at a stone wall by land now or formerly of one WILSON; thence turning and running southerly by said WILSON's land of 288.66 feet to a point at a stone wall by land now or formerly of the Town of Andover; thence turning and running westerly 173.2 feet by said land of the Town of Andover to a point; thence turning and running northerly by other land of said Town of Andover 194.12 feet to a point; thence turning and running westerly 173.42 feet to a point at a stone wall by land now or formerly of DAVID MIDDLETON; thence turning and running northerly by said MIDDLETON land 229 feet to a point on the southwesterly corner of land now or late of one REILLY; thence turning and running easterly by land of said REILLY and by land now or late of one LESLIE 114 feet to a point on the southeasterly corner of said LESLIE land; thence turning and running northerly 140 feet, more or less, by said Leslie land to a point on the southerly line of said Haverhill Street; thence turning and running easterly by said southerly line of said Haverhill Street; thence turning and running easterly by said southerly line of said Haverhill Street 221.83 feet to the point of beginning.

Excepting therefrom such part of said premises as was taken for the relocation of said Haverhill Street, by taking dated August 21, 1925, recorded with the North District of Essex Registry of Deeds, Book 515, Page 255.

This conveyance is made subject to a right of way by the Town of Andover for sewerage purposes more particularly described in a deed recorded in the North District of Essex Registry of Deeds, Book 171, Page 97, setting forth that he desires that all of said land may be sold at private sale for not less than Forty-five Thousand dollars, and praying that partition be made of all the land aforesaid according to law, and to that end that a commissioner be appointed to make such partition and be ordered to make sale and conveyance of all, or any part of said land which the Court finds cannot be advantageously divided either at private sale or public auction, and be ordered to distribute the net proceeds thereof.

If you desire to object thereto you or your attorney should file a written appearance in said Court at Newburyport before ten o'clock in the forenoon on the twenty-third day of February 1976, the return day of this citation.

Malden Bank Asks Branch Permit Here

The Malden Co-Operative Bank has petitioned the state banking commission for authority to establish a branch office in the property at Main and Chestnut Streets formerly occupied by Dana's Sports Shop.

Edward R. Marston, a North Andover resident, president of the bank, said the financial institution has asked the commission for authority to establish a local office, a new law which allows banks to establish a branch over a county line. Effective date of the legislation is March 10, and it enables banks to exceed boundaries with a single office per year.

The hearing before the state banking board is scheduled for Feb. 26.

Marston said the bank has optioned the first floor and basement of the Main St. property. If approved by the banking commission, the branch would open in late spring or early summer.

Malden Co-Operative was established in 1887 and is the fifth largest bank of its type in the state with assets in excess of $94 million. It is a state chartered institution offering a full line of banking services.

The main office is located on Exchange St. in Malden Square and branch offices are located in North Reading, Medford and on the Revere-Malden line.

drop has already begun. Long range planning would include, of course, curriculum analysis development and a detailed policy determined in the near future."

Childs

studied Architectural Construction, also a graduate of Methuen High School.

A Carpentry Instructor and department chairman for the past six year at Shawsheen Valley Regional Vocational Technical High School in Billerica, he is a firm believer in Occupational Education as a concrete and realistic alternative for students in Andover.

He estimates that 60 percent of high school students require a skill as opposed to a college education and he emphasizes that career education must be expanded into the comprehensive high school in the area.

Childs was chosen for the Pilot Program for Training Occupational Education Administrators and is a certified Director of Occupational Education in Comprehensive High School. Also he was appointed by Commissioner Anrig to the Ad Hoc Committee for Occupational Education.

For ten years he was a self-employed building contractor and has worked as a mill carpenter, house carpenter and architectural draftsman, and has first-hand knowledge of the business world. His objective when elected is to advance vocational education so that as many students as are in the Greater Lawrence School District can benefit directly from exposure to the occupational trades; also he feels that the implementation of Special Need Students under Chapter 766 is very important at this time.

When the Greater Lawrence Regional Vocational Technical High School opened in 1965 he was appointed to the original faculty and served as Carpentry Instructor for five years; he also served on the apprentice committee for the Carpenter's Local III.

Report Cards Due

Report cards will be issued to students to bring home at West Junior High School on Friday.

He is past secretary of the Massachusetts Vocational Association, past president of the Shawsheen Teachers Association, past secretary of the Greater Lawrence Jaycees, past secretary of the Greater Lawrence Home Builders Association, and a former town meeting member in Methuen for nine years. Also he is a member of the American Vocational Association and the St. Robert's Men's Guild. He served in the U.S. Navy as a storekeeper during 1946 and 1947.

A Greater Lawrence resident for the past 37 years and in Andover for the past nine years, he resides with his wife, the former Cynthia Hyder, at 135 North St., Andover, and is the father of three daughters.

In a recent interview, Childs admitted that he would look forward to the challenge of serving on the Vo-Tech board to cope with the problems of the changing picture of occupational education, and that he is interested and greatly involved in Vocational Education and is qualified by education, experience and background.

Kenny

"No one is more aware than my wife and I that the costs of a public school program are very substantial and I would do my utmost to continue to provide this sound education program our town has followed for many years, while attempting in every way possible to reduce the school committee budget.

"One of the serious problems which we must face is the school population bulge which may or may not be a temporary condition. Certainly, long range planning to determine future school population growth is essential before any steps are taken. In most communities and in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts school departments, they anticipate a substantial drop in school population within the next 5-10 years and in many communities the
